We have a new department

by [Kallie Erasmus]

Our team is extremely proud of Erasmus Panelbeaters, as each individual fills a unique & vital part of our business. We have had a great first quarter of 2013 and we are proud and excited to announce that we have opened a new department for minor scratches and dents.

When buying a new car some insurers offer you cover for minor scratches and dents. This policy entitles you to minor bumps, scratches and stone chip repairs from R1500.00 up to R3000.00. It depends on which cover you have selected.

HOW CAN WE HELP YOU!

Not all vehicle owners have the privilege of this policy and that is where we come in. Our minor scratch and dents department now offer this service at a better price to clients who have to do these repairs out of their own pocket.

We will not only give better prices on the above mentioned but also on respray on cars when using a solvent base paint rather than a water base paint which is a must for insurance and approvals.

We always strive to satisfy and help our clients and to honor our commitment to you we are launching our new department.

So come in and meet the team and have a free cup of coffee while we do a quick quote to assess your requirements.

Best Regards

Kallie Erasmus

Cooper Healeys are in town!

Mention the name 'Cooper Healey' amongst sports car enthusiasts and the anoraks amongst them would likely scurry off and delve deeply into their well-thumbed reference books looking for some facts or figures on what must surely be a one-off special that somehow had slipped through the mists of time.

In fact, the name applies to a replica of a 1950s sports car, the Austin-Healey 100/6, which was an archetypical post-war hairy-chested British roadster with a successful racing and rallying history. But this time, instead of one-time motor company giant Austin being the manufacturer we have a small South African motor business run by the Cooper family, while the Healey name is clearly in deference to the original Donald Healey designed and developed car, designated BJ8.

What has been anonymously added into the modern mix is BMW, whose E30 325i models provide most of the mechanicals of this startlingly realistic recreation. The car is the culmination of the various talents of the petrolhead Coopers, father Ricky and sons Marck and Gavin.

We here at Erasmus Panelbeaters feel very privileged to be the trusted preferred service provider for the Cooper family to do the respray on these magnificent cars. It is always a fun and exciting challenge for us. From the start to the end.

Car servicing, maintenance and repairs

Even if you're not good with mechanical stuff, there are some easy things you can do to keep your car running smoothly and looking good. If you take care of little things as they pop up, you could save yourself from some major mechanical repairs down the track.

To get you started, we've pulled together some easy car maintenance tips:

- Oil: Check your oil levels regularly! The oil acts as a lubricant to make all the parts of the engine work together smoothly and it reduces wear-out.
- Tyres: Check your tyre pressure every two weeks and ALWAYS check it before a long drive.
- Batteries: If your battery has not been replaced in 3 – 4 years consider a replacement as battery failures often occur with no warning.
- Brakes: Squealing brakes, grinding on your rotors or unusual vibrations may indicate your brakes need replacing.
