Ses Snare sing The Beatles

Ses kitare, ses stemme, bekende Beatles liedjies en ouens wat 'n hond uit 'n bos uit kan sing - dit is die groep Ses Snare wat nou al vir vyf jaar baie gewild is by kunstefeeste, teaters en korporatiewe funksies regoor die land.

Dit is met groot opgewondenheid dat die Ses Snare hulle splintemuwe CD - Ses Snare Sing The Beatles bekend stel! Hulle het reeds al met groot sukses 2x DVD's (Ses Snare Live at the Performer Theater en Ses Snare LIVE) vrygestel en hierdie CD is amptelik hulle derde CD wat vrygestel word. (Vorige Cd's is: Ses Snare Live at the Performer Theater en STING).

Ses Snare bestaan uit Blackie Swart, Pieter Smith, MD Greyling, Thean Kotze, Peter Hoven en Leon Ecoignard. Sedert verlede jaar maak Ses Snare gebruik van musikale "swingers" wanneer een van die gereelde lede nie beskikbaar is nie.

Tydens "Kamp Staalsnaar", die Snare se jaarlikse oefenkamp in Januarie, is die Beatles program tot op die laaste noot afgerond, daar is enkele liedjies bygevoeg en die harmonieë en kitaarsolo's is oor en oor geoefen totdat almal tevrede was.

Come and have a cup cake with me while we look into the history of the Vaal Triangle, Part 3.

The information in this article was written by: Norman Acton - Last update 2008. - OVERVIEW:

Power:

The growth of industry in the Vaal Triangle required power. Marks agreed to supply land, coal and water for the erection of a power station on the Transvaal bank of the Vaal River next to Leslie's Weir, and in 1912, the Vereeniging Power Station came into operation. It was to expand to four times its original size over the years and at one point, enjoyed the status of being the biggest power generation plant in the British Empire.

The Victoria Falls and Transvaal Power Company built a further four power stations in the region to exploit its abundance of coal and water. These were, the Klip Power Station in 1936, the Vaal Power Station in 1959. The Complex had a total combined maximum generating capacity of 1813 megawatts. Financing of the Vaal and Taaibos Power Stations was through the Electricity Supply Commission (Escom), a public utility established in 1922. Escom took over the VFP Company in 1948. None of these power stations are in existence today, a new power station, Lethabo, came into full production in 1990 with a generating capacity double that of the earlier five combined. The Lethabo power station can produce enough electricity to power three cities the size of today's Johannesburg. It consumes 40,000 tons of coal per day and provides 9.5% of the country's electricity needs.

Water:

Johannesburg one of the few big cities in the world not to be located on a river, was and still is, dependent on the Vaal River for its water supplies. In 1914, the Rand Water Board adopted the Vaal Development Scheme that involved the construction of the Barrage 25 miles downstream of the Vereeniging Railway Bridge, and intake station, and the provision of a purification and pumping works at Vereeniging. These plans had to be shelved due to the advent of World War and it was almost 10 years later in 1923 when Rand Water Board completed the Scheme. Since water had to be lifted about 380 meters from the Vaal River to the higher regions of Johannesburg and surrounding areas (then known as the Witwatersrand), considerable pumping energy was required and booster pumping station was built at Zwartkoppies, South of Johannesburg.

By 1932, the demand for water again exceeded supply. Construction of a larger dam was necessary and in 1938, the Vaal Dam was completed at the confluence of the Vaal & Wilge rivers. Today, it is South Africa's biggest dam by area and the fourth largest by volume. The thirst for water continued and as the Vereeniging purification works expanded to its limits, a new, larger purification works was constructed at Zuikerbosch in the early 1950's. Drought conditions necessitated that a continuous supply of water be maintained in the Vaal Dam and two recent Schemes, the Tugela Vaal Schemes and the Lesotho Highlands Scheme have ensured that a minimum level of water is maintained in the Vaal Dam.

Our next Issue will be the overview part 4- it will also be our last part of this article.

The Chicken and the Pig.

By: Joelene Walters

This is a fable that talks about commitment to a project or any particular cause.

When producing a dish made of ham and eggs, the pig provides the ham which requires his sacrifice and the chicken provides the eggs which are not difficult to produce. Thus the pig is really committed in that dish while the chicken is only involved, yet both are needed to produce the dish.

After reading this piece I could not stop thinking how true this is especially in a project management team scenario. Relate this to the workplace and we will see that we have a lot of pigs in the workplace as well as a lot of chickens. People that are committed to their cause and people that are just involved.

As a project manager you tend to ask yourself the question; "Do I want more pigs than chicken on my team?" Well in reality a successful project needs both chickens and pigs. So it is the job of the project manager to make sure that s/he has sufficient pigs and that they are empowered to drive the project in return for committing to and taking accountability for it. In this case, pigs are totally committed to the project. With that being said, it can be rather difficult to collect pigs to be team members.

Pigs are totally committed to the project as they do a total sacrifice by providing the bacon for the breakfast, whereas the chicken just provides the egg and is thus just involved, sort of like a consultant on the project.

We can put another twist to the fable and present it like this :-

A pig and a chicken are walking down the road. The chicken says : "Hey Pig, I was thinking we should open a restaurant!" Pig replies : "Hmmm, maybe, what would we call it?" The chicken responds : "How about ham-and-eggs'?" The pig thinks for a moment and says : "No thanks. I'd be committed, but you'd only be involved!"

For me, just being involved wouldn't bring me the results I want and I doubt that it will bring you the results you desire.

Are you the Chicken or the Pig in your life and your business?

My Kommin Troon

Ons het almal iewers in ons familie, al is dit naby familie, iemand wat ons "common" noem

Wat van die vrou wat met haar 3-jarige seuntjie wat jy vanoggend met 'n nuwe broek kleuterskool toe gestuur het en vanmiddag by die Spar se "till" buk hy vooroor met 'n stukkende broek en skree en huil oor windpomp lekkergoed wat hy nie mag kry nie! wat die rooi gesig ma dan dwing om die omstanders met geweld te dreig as hulle nie ophou inmeng nie!

Dit het alles al met my gebeur en ek is seker die omstanders se reaksie was "Hoe kommin!"

Ek is nou die dag in die geselskap van 'n klomp "oulike" tannies.

Julie weet die soort met die amper blonde "bob" en perfek gedoende "peach" naels en ek vra toe of hulle iemand ken wat kommin is.

Die geskokte stilte was oorverdoewend!!

Niemand in daai geselskap is kommin nie en niemand ken of weet van iemand wat kommin is nie. En daar staan ek tussen hulle met my Black Label bier, verkieslik in die bottel, in die een hand en 'n Kent Special in die ander en hulle ken niemand wat "kommin" is nie!!

Ek het al die "common" toets gedoen en met vlieënde vaandels geslaag. Ek is in goeie geselskap, want Steve Hofmeyr het ook!

Ek is op een ding trots, ek bly nog koningin op my Kommin Troon!

Be aware!!!!

Burglars are using code chalk symbols to let other criminals know whether a property is worth targeting.

The marks, dubbed the Da Vinci Code, are made by would-be thieves to indicate if the house is vulnerable, revealing who is living in the house and whether there is anything worth stealing.

IF YOU NOTICE THESE MARKINGS AT YOUR PROPERTY REMOVE

Break FREE from bills

Your bills keep coming and your debt continues to pile up. It may seem daunting, but if you change your attitude and focus on getting out of debt, it can be easier than you think.

Cut up your credit cards: Yes, that's right. Cut them up, cancel them and stop using them. You've heard this countless times, but yet you're still charging things you can't afford on your credit cards. All that high interest you're paying is only putting yourself further into debt. So cancel your cards start paying for things with cash. If you don't have money in hand then don't buy it.

One bill at a time: Zero in on one bill at a time and make an effort to pay it off quickly. Pay the minimum amount on all your other bills, but pay a little extra on the one you've singled out. Pick your smallest bill or the one with the highest interest rate first. Once that bill gets paid off, tackle the next one by applying the payment you were making on the paid off bill to your next one and so on and so on. It may take some time, but you'll have a solid plan for eventually becoming debt free.

Save for a rainy day: Set up an emergency fund and make sure you keep a minimum amount in it each month. Having a little extra padding for unexpected emergencies will help prevent you from turning to your credit cards.

Pay your bills on time: It may be difficult some months, but it's crucial that you don't rack up late fees on your bills. If you're just disorganized, then pay each bill as soon as it comes in or write down your due dates on a calendar. If you link your emergency fund to your checking account, you'll have a little back up in case you forget one.
